“ *To Hap,
I know you made Nanci very happy and you were a loving companion so to you my deepest condolences. She was a great friend and we had many happy memories when she lived in Cape Girardeau MO.*

“ So sorry for this epic loss of such a beautiful person. Love to Hap and Jenny and all who love Nancy. I know there are so many of us who do. Did not know her well as I had just met her in December, 2024, but she made an indelible impression with her kindness, creativity, and warmth.

“ Oh my, I'm so sad to hear of Nanci's passing! I first met her at Sea Coast Chiropractic, where she was such a sweet light to all Dr. Sean's patients. We used to bond over our midwestern roots and have lively discussions about spirituality. I'll miss her beautiful smile and artful presence.

“ To my beautiful, Nanci. You were such a good friend. I could always call and it was like no time had gone by. I'm so happy you built the life you wanted and were surrounded by friends in the end. I will miss you and think you often. With love, Cyndi.

“ I first met Nanci at a talk she gave about her journey - I was exhilarated by it! She was so honest, authentic, so herself. As she spoke her story, the air around her was charged with the very presence of it - the presence of the story, the presence of her within the story, but I'd also say it was charged with the presence of grace that was with her. Her deep, beautiful voice was unrushed and rich with descriptions and feelings. When she smiled, her voice carried that smile, and when she spoke of the struggle, you could hear the depth of the questions and then see that light that was dawning as she followed the threads of answers.

Her listening... to spirit, to life, to the unfolding.. was exhilarating to me because as I listened, my whole being nodded a Yes in response - Yes, this is how you do it, this how you face the turning points in life. It reminds me of people that are naturally sensitive to animals... they know how to get still, to get into a connection zone. Nanci was Connected with Life-she swam through layers and layers of it. She was One Who Dances with Spirit. Surely she is even more so now. She IS extraordinary!
